PATENTS.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE,
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
WITH THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE
WASHINGTON,
NO. 76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringements of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, (generally about 30 per cent. less than those of others in the profession) but avail themselves of the experience of 20 years practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents

During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

NEWPORT

BY CRANSTON & NORMAN

144 THAMES STREET.

TUESDAY MORNING, OCT 9, 1855

Eight shares of the capital stock of the Newport Gas Light Company were sold yesterday for $50 per share, by George B. Knowles to Job A. Peckham; this is a portion of the stock which was sold by the Traders Bank last May, which they held as collateral security, and which they gave up, to the astonishment of every one before the Draft for the payment of which it was held, was due, to Henry Bull, in February last, in order to enable that puppy to carry on his war against the men who were instrumental in introducing gas into the city, and who had worked day and night without compensation, to increase the value of the stock, and benefit the people of Newport. Whether this is an actual sale or not, we are unable to say; but we advise people who hold stock not to take this sale, if it be a sale, as a criterion of its value,—for, it must be remembered that it is sold to Job A. Peckham, who is the partner of this fellow, Bull. An action is pending in the U. S. Circuit Court against the Trader's Bank, brought in consequence of their unheard-of conduct in giving up collateral securities to Henry Bull, who had nothing to do with the transaction,—and Bull has given the Bank a bond to indemnify them against all losses in consequence of their conduct.

The people of Newport will ultimately understand this fellow, Bull, when his transactions in connection with the Gas Company are fully spread before them, at the proper time. We intend, on a future occasion to draw his delectable portrait in accurate colors. We know him thoroughly and well, and we intend to do him—what he most dreads—the most ample and stern justice.

We should not be surprised if it was the desire of the bogus Directors of this Company to reduce the stock in the market from its par value, $100 per share, to the lowest possible price, and then purchase a controlling quantity, as a matter of speculation. This fellow Bull, in January last, sent a dirty and unprincipled pimp of his to Philadelphia, and he there made the most foul and malignant representations to stockholders in that city, in regard to the state of affairs in the Gas Company up to that time; we have all the documents, and in due time shall publish them.

The steamship Adriatic now being built for the Collins line of steamers will be the finest vessel afloat. She will measure five thousand six hundred tons; her length will be three hundred and forty-five feet on the broad line; depth of hold thirty-three feet; breadth of beam fifty feet.

The revenue officers at Boston having had their suspicions excited in regard to a lady passenger in the steamer America, which arrived on Friday from Liverpool, they proceeded to examine her person for the smuggled articles. Upon examination, the folds of her skirt were found to contain a large amount of expensive laces and other articles, all of which were forfeited.

The City Item gives the pronunciation of the fabric now so fashionable, "moire-antique," in this manner, morgre anteike. We can give them one easier to recollect and more classical. It is when HORATIO wishes to drain the poisoned cup with HAMLET and says, "never believe it, I'm more an antique Roman than a Dane!"

THE RUSSIAN FLEET.—According to the Courrier des Etats-Unis, the Russian flag counted at Sevastopol, in September, 1854, seventeen ships, five of 120 guns, the remainder of 84 guns; four frigates; four corvettes or brigs; twelve steamships; and eighty-two ships of inferior rank; in all 108 ships, carrying 2200 guns. This colossal armament was destroyed by the Russians themselves, to prevent it from falling into the hands of their enemies.

The Archbishop of Paris, in his address to the Emperor, congratulating him upon the fall of Sebastopol, took occasion to add the following item of congratulation on altogether a different subject:

"Sire—The national joy is increased by the thought that Heaven, after all these triumphs, prepares for you in addition domestic joys, which will be so much more delightful to your heart as they will be also for the public good."

HOME.—Home is a genuine Saxon word—a word kindred to Saxon speech, but with an import common to the race of man. Perhaps there is no other word in language, that clusters within so many and so stirring meanings, that calls into play and powerfully excites so many faculties of our being.

CLOAK AND MANTILLA OPENING.

This week a number of mantilla dealers will open their autumn styles. We do not know that any particular day is set apart for the whole number, but we are informed that Molyneux Bell, in Canal street, will open on Tuesday, and have been obliged with a sight of his importations and inventions in advance. The styles this year are richer, more imposing, and less gorgeous than they have been for a season or two. Black is the distinguished color, but other rich, warm hues may be worn with good taste. Purple, deep brown, blue and dark green are all admirable and elegant.

In size, the cloak is larger and more comfortable and, with the heavier trimming required, takes an air of great richness. Velvet is much used, trimmed with moss edging, borders of moire antique, edged with moss fringe, or, what is more distinguished still, a border of ostrich feathers woven into a fabric that seems like a lustrious fur. Embroidery is less used than it has been; but it may be worn by persons of the highest fashion without question. Indeed, from the exquisite variety of design which embroidery embodies and the artistic effort produced, persons of good taste will always be found to prefer fine embroidery to anything else. There is a maroon velvet cloak in Bell's show rooms with five hundred dollars worth of artistic labor elaborated upon it. The design and work were all done in his work rooms, and among his out door employees where from five to seven hundred persons are employed in making garments such as will be exhibited on Tuesday.

We refer to this, that our readers may have some idea of the immense importance to which this cloak and mantilla trade has arisen, within the last ten years. So far back as that, the whole business was confined to dress making establishments, while a few fashionable stores made it a branch of their business, only—now there exist half a dozen establishments, more or less entirely devoted to this business—North, South and West, these garments are attributed, by wholesale, in quantities this seem absolutely surprising, while the retail trade in the city is on the increase every year.

But in speaking of the business we must not forget the particular garments of the season. In form, as we have said, cloaks are made large and of at least fifty different forms. We will describe one of black velvet, trimmed heavily with a border of ostrich plumes.

At the neck is a yoke, surrounded by a small cape which terminates at the shoulders in loose hanging sleeves, while the yoke descends in front in a pelarine form with square ends.—A square skirt descends half way down the person meeting the pelarine front and thus forming a perfect garment. Velvet cloaks are now worn, and cloaks with deep yokes, and bodies plaited full around them. Velvet, moire antique, and very fine are the most fashionable materials. Velvet is often trimmed with moire, and vice versa; in both cases the effect is beautiful.

STEALING HENS.—Judge W., who still occupies an honorable position upon the Supreme Bench at Michigan, could if he chose, tell some good stories of his early jurisprudence in the interior of the State. Holding his first circuit in Oakland in 1843 a fellow was tried and convicted before him for stealing hens. For foreman of the traverse jury was one C—— T——, a laughable original, by the way, and hitherto unknown to the judge. The trial being over, and a verdict of guilty rendered, the judge sentenced the culprit to imprisonment in the county jail, soon after which the court adjourned. On the way down from the court house, the judge was overtaken by foreman T——, in a big short roundabout, with a fiery red head, whom he did not at once recollect. "Well, judge," said T——, slapping him on the back, "you put it to that chap good and strong, and you did just right; poor, miserable cuss, to steal hens! Judge, I am naturally strong in the back, and when the country was new, I have now and then taken a sheep, but hens, O goodness! he ought to feel above it!"

THE SOUND DUES.—The Paris correspondent of the Commercial Advertiser writes: "The Independence Belge has a paragraph intended for the United States. It says in good set terms that the Danish Sound question is a European question; as such it will be settled beyond appeal, by the States of Europe. If the United States should seek to disregard such a settlement, and should endeavor to force a distinct arrangement for itself, not only France would defend Denmark against such an assumption, but the whole of Europe en masse!"

A RECORD OF HORRORS.—From Lloyd's forthcoming Steamboat Directory, says the Cincinnati Gazette, we learn that since the application of steam on the Western waters there have been 39,672 lives lost by steamboat disasters, 381 boats and cargoes lost, and seventy boats seriously injured, amounting in the aggregate to the enormous sum of $67,000,000.

Grand Duke Constantine, of Russia, has sent to Lieutenant Maury an autograph letter complimenting him upon his scientific attainments.

A SISTER'S CONSECRATED TOMB.

BY HENRY S. WASHBURN.

Sweet be her rest in yonder tomb,
  Who early passed from earth away,
While yet the blush of maiden bloom
  Was seen upon her cheeks to play,
For angels guard with final trust,
A sister's consecrated dust.

How strong our love, as day by day,
  Her bird-like spirit caroled free,
Who strewed along life's toilsome way,
  The flowers of love and melody,
And soothed the furrowed brow of care,
With all a sister's fondness there.

I can recall her image now,
  So full of gentleness and grace,
The thoughtful bearing of her brow,
  The mild expression of her face,
The look that kindly could reprove,
The eye that only spoke of love.

We sit beneath the spreading tree,
  At twilight's pensive hour of rest,
While summer winds are rocking free,
  The linnet in his quiet nest,
And mark the dusky hues of even
Steal softly o'er the arch of heaven.

Or, cheerly, while the roseate hues,
  Of morning break in eastern skies,
We pluck the flowers whose fragrance woos
  Our footsteps where the violet lies,
An emblem meet of her whose hour,
Was transient as the vernal flower.

She was a being born to bless,
  A verdant spot in life's lone waste,
Then, with her warmest fond caress,
  To plume her wings and upward haste,
To breathe a holier air than this,
The home of uncreated bliss.

O, could our puny arm have stayed,
  Her spirit in its upward flight,
How had it summoned to its aid,
  The strength of its collected might,
Death had not marr'd her brow so fair,
Nor fixed his fatal signet there.

But she is gone, the simple strain,
  We sung around her dying bed,
Will not arrest her ear again,
  She slumbers with the early dead,
A morning star, whose mellow ray,
The traveller cheered till break of day,
Then melted into light away.

NORFOLK, October 1, 1855.

To the New York Relief Committee:—

GENTLEMEN—I deem it suitable to forward to you such information as I can collect, respecting the wants of the people in his vicinity. According to a rough census lately taken in Norfolk, the present population is about five thousand, of which three thousand at least require and receive relief from public or private charity. The population of Portsmouth is estimated at three thousand, of which two thousand are chiefly supplied from the public stores. The provisions and cash on hand, it is believed, may carry them through three or four weeks, in case their necessities do not increase, but it is clear that their necessities must increase as the cold season comes on, and the absentees return. A large part of the absentees will not require assistance but many will, because, in order to make their escape, they sacrificed all they possessed, and will return destitute. There are numbers beside who will not present themselves as needing help. Too sensitive or proud, they suffer until searched out, and then, although without bread or meat for days, or means to procure it, they endavor to conceal their situation.

The pride of these unfortunate families is certainly ill-timed, but their feelings should be respected, while their misfortunes and afflictions are commiserated and their wants relieved. I am pained that my purse both charitable and private, is not equal to what I am convinced is greatly needed. From the crowded state of small dwellings together, it seems nearly inevitable that typhus fever must break out in these localities. Despondency, even to despair and filth, already abounds. It needs but want of foods to precipitate another disease but little less fearful than the present.

It is needless to occupy your time with details of my own employment. The crowded condition and helplessness in the localities of the destitute require incessant attention to reform.

I am desired to present to you, gentlemen of the committee, and through you to the generous contributors, the heartfelt thanks of the people in this vicinity, for the timely and important assistance rendered to them. And I beg to add, on my own judgment that I do not see how those who survive after the sickness has passed, are to exist without great and continued exertions through the Winter.

Yours, respectfully,
JAMES WILSON.

A New Orleans editor quotes from one of his contemporaries the following paragraph, in which he thinks he perceives something mystical, to say the least. It may be, however, that the critic is at fault, and we therefore submit the paragraph to our readers "without note or comment:"

"The continued decline of the yellow fever in this city since the week ended on the 19th ultimo has been as rapid and constant as gratifying. Then the deaths by yellow fever alone were not very largely short of double in number what those from all causes were during last week; then the number of deaths from other causes was two less than that of last week was; then the deaths from yellow fever were more than three times those from other causes while last week the deaths from other causes than yellow fever were nearly one-third more than those caused by that disease."

BY TELEGRAPH.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.

MAN SHOT.—While the Democrats were marching in procession from the mass meeting last evening, several pistol shot were fired upon them, and a young man named Thomas Burke was shot dead. The parties who made the attack are said to be Know Nothings. A man named Thomas Davis has been arrested charged with the murder.

SPIRITUALISM.—The Philadelphia Argus says; The last and one of the boldest follies we have heard, occurred last week, in the upper part of the city. The spirit of a murdered man has been for months in tribulation, but finally, a few days since, succeeded in communicating the fact that having been murdered some ten years since his body was placed in a dry well in a sitting posture, and the well having since been filled, the position was found inconvenient, especially as the place had been built upon, and the spirit wants the body taken up and decently interred. The precise location was indicated—directly beneath the steps of a certain house in Hutchison street between Poplar and Girard avenue; and since then the most laborious excavations have been going on to find the body, while the story has afforded abundant food for gossip.

To horse owners, stable keepers and others.—Dyers' Healing Embrocation has proved to be one of the best remedies for lameness, caused by strains, bruises, spavin or other accidental cause as well as for wounds, galls or other injuries that are frequently occurring to horses and other animals. It is also the cheapest preparation that can be used. A stable keeper in Providence says,—

"I have frequently used it with the most decided marked results upon my horses. I use it in all cases of cuts, wounds and bruises, and in internal pains and distress, and it never fails to give immediate relief, or to effect a cure.

It will heal wounds, cuts or sores, upon man or animals, sooner than any other preparation I have ever used.

From the Home Journal, New York.

"No article ever acquired so rapid a celebrity. To those who have used it,—and who has not?—The reason is obvious, as it not only beautifies the Hair, but preserves and restores it at an advanced age of life. Its pristine and agreeable enlivening effects should stamp it an indispensible article of the toilet." The above is but one of thousands of similar commendation—It stands unrivalled as its unparalleled popularity has caused several unprincipled persons to put up valueless imitations, which they call by somewhat similar names. Sold everywhere, in large bottles, for only 25 cents.

MARVELLOUS REMEDY!
FOR A MARVELLOUS AGE!!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

THE GRAND EXTERNAL REMEDY,

By the aid of a microscope, we see millions of little openings on the surface of our bodies. Through these this Ointment, when rubbed on the skin, is carried to any organ or inward part. Diseases of the Kidneys, disorders of the Liver, affections of the heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Asthmas, Coughs and Colds, are by its means effectually cured. Every housewife knows that salt passes freely through bone or meat of any thickness. This healing Ointment far more readily penetrates through any bone or fleshy part of the living body, curing the most dangerous inward complaints, that cannot be reached by other means.

ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM and SCORBUTIC HUMORS.

No remedy has ever done so much for the cure of diseases of the Skin, whatever form they may assume as this Ointment. No case of Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Sore Heads, Scrofula or Erysipelas, can long withstand its influence. The inventor has travelled over many parts of the globe, visiting the principal hospitals dispensing this Ointment, giving advice as to its application, and has thus been the means of restoring countless numbers to health.

SORE LEGS, SORE BREASTS, WOUNDS AND ULCERS.

Some of the most scientific surgeons now rely solely on the use of this wonderful Ointment when having to cope with the worst cases of sores, wounds, ulcers, glandular swellings, and tumors. Professor Holloway has by command of the Allied Governments, dispatched to the hospitals of the East large shipments of this Ointment, to be used under the direction of the Medical Staff, in the worst cases of wounds. It will cure any ulcer, glandular swelling, stiffness or contraction of the joints, even of 20 years, standing.

PILES AND FISTULAS.

These and other similar distressing complaints can be effectually cured if the Ointment be well rubbed in over the parts affected and by otherwise following the printed directions around each pot.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

THE Burglar's Alarm and Physician's Night Bell and Lamp!—This instrument, patented August 21, 1855, is simple and certain in its operation, and gives security against the depredations of burglars. An attempt to open any door or window connected with this apparatus, will cause an alarm loud and long, to be rung, and a common hand lamp to be lighted at the same instant. The burglar, frightened at the alarm he has raised, will hastily abscond, even before an actual entrance is made.

Physicians and Apothecaries will also find the article of great utility. For such purposes, it is operated by a bell-pull at the street door, and will save the expense and inconvenience of a constantly burning light.

When compared with other instruments invented for the same purpose, this alarm is admitted to be vastly superior, both as to the efficiency of the alarm, and the certainty of ignition. For sale at TISDALE'S, 116 Thames st.

SOAP! SOAP!!

THE subscriber is now prepared to furnish the highly celebrated American Cream, American Laundry, American Manufacturers' Soap, and Cream Soap preparation. These soaps are presented to the public with the fullest confidence in their superiority and utility. A fair trial according to the directions given below, cannot fail to be entirely satisfactory; and an argument more conclusive than pages of certificates and recommendations. A fair trial is all I ask. These soaps do the work of the Laundry in the best manner in cool water, either hard or soft, or salt, dispensing entirely with boiling, pounding, washing machines, &c., without injury to the most delicate fabric. In cold weather, health may render it advisable to take the chill off the water.

The tendency of these soaps is to soften the clothes and loosen the hold of the dirt, without injury.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—White Clothes—Rub the soap freely on all soiled spots, make a strong suds in water, sufficient to cover, soak a few hours, or all night if convenient, when with a common hand rubbing and thorough rinsing, they will be perfectly clean and beautifully bleached.

Calicoes and other colored articles, wash without soaking and rinse.

Woolens—Wash in warm suds (to prevent shrinking) and rinse.

Merinoes, Silk Velvets, Silks, Ribbons, &c. Wash in strong suds and rinse.

To take Lamp Oil, Wheel Grease, Grease Spots, &c. out of Carpets, Table Covers, and Clothing, rub the soap on freely, soak some time in strong suds, rub out and rinse. Ink spots and stains, use full strength, soak, and wash in hot water.

Gilding and Mahogany.—Wash in weak suds, rub with silk cloth and rinse. Paint, wash in strong suds.

For all other purposes, use as you do the common bar soap, and you will be compelled to admit that it surpasses all other soaps. Manufactured and for sale wholesale and retail, by

The following recommendations have been furnished gratuitously—
Louisville, Jan. 27, 1851.

The Lightning Conductors on the plan of J. Spratt, of Cincinnati, appear to be very well devised, and in point of mechanical construction are the best I have ever seen.

It is to be hoped that the use of these rods may become general as an important auxiliary defence against a danger which must be regarded as of no ordinary magnitude, to which all buildings are liable.
B. SILLIMAN, Jr.
Prof. of Chem. in the Univ. of Louisville.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Points, and Insulating Attachments, manufactured by Mr. Spratt, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and regard them as constructed in conformity to the general laws of the electric fluid; and the Gilded Copper Branched Points, as promising, from the results of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for years the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.
